

The Nursing Specialist Group

Information Technology in Nursing

Volume 9 1997

Providing mental, health care: getting a purchase on information

Peter Jones

Chorley Hospital

Chorley, Lancashire

Keywords: mental health nursing, data, information, neural network, measurement.

Summary: The changes affecting mental health services are discussed including the Care Programme Approach, together with the implications for gathering data and using information. The importance of context is illustrated. Two different roles for Community Psychiatric Nurses are suggested, supported by the electronic health record.