actively encouraged to take interest in ICT. Beti would arrange for us to engage with WIT in Wales, and also get links started with Schools. All Committee were asked to encourage female colleagues to join the Committee, or at least partake with this work.

The situation with regard to the lack of girls taking ICT at School and then at University was at a point where a serious lack of national resources in this field could affect the economy. Ongoing

Invitations to non-Members to be more vigorous in our Event announcements on the e ^ N2' .qEbLw-.”E-2qU, on ohe
