Chair's report by Adrian Winckies

Denis Edgar-Nevill

- It is with deepest regret that we are sorry to announce the death of Denis Edgar-Nevill - he had been such a great supporter of the BCS, as the Founder Chair of the BCS Cybercrime Forensics Specialist Group, as well as being active on other BCS and international committees.
- He started the annual international Cybercrime Forensics Education and Training (CFET) conference, attracting speakers from all over the world. He was also the Principal Investigator for the EU Framework 7 Funded project, E-CENTRE, the English Centre of Excellence for Cybercrime Training, Research and Education.
- He was well known for providing a free weekly update of links to sources of the most recent relevant information, that was used by those interested in security and cyber forensics.

Chair's report by Adrian Winckies

Denis Edgar-Nevill

- For many years Denis worked at Canterbury Christ Church University, leading the Department of Computing as Head, for the majority of this time until his retirement. Before joining Canterbury Christ Church University, he worked at Napier and at Lincoln Universities.
- Denis organised many training courses for the police, and for many years ran a Masters programme with what became the College of Policing.
- It was very obvious to all that met him that he had a great enthusiasm for Cybercrime Forensics and for Software Quality. He was very highly respected within law enforcement, industry and academic circles.
- He is survived by his wife, Val, daughters Hazel and Bonnie, and granddaughter, Heidi.

How do we equip the Cybercrime professional of Tomorrow during the current COVID crisis?

---

- Speaker: Stuart Richards
- Can remote delivery / tutorial be an effective method of imparting the skills required for a Cyber Investigator.
- We look at the current methods and feedback form students to assess the effectiveness of blended delivery in this complex field of study. What are the technical / psychological barriers to effective learning?
- Stuart Richards has a background in electronics with 18 years providing electronic and physical security/protection for high value commercial, politically sensitive and military sites.
- Stuart spent 10 years with Gwent/ South Wales Police as a digital forensic examiner, where he established the Mobile device capability for Gwent and advised other forces on initial set up of labs. He developed and provided training for officers in correct procedure re mobile device / CCTV seizure. Since 2016, Stuart is the Academic Course Leader in Computer and Cyber Forensics at the University of Gloucestershire
