

John Perry Prize

Call for nominations

The John Perry Prize is the leading award for innovation and excellence in primary care computing and informatics. It recognises individuals or teams who have made an outstanding contribution to the field through research, software development, service improvement, or other significant achievements.

The winner will receive a certificate, a £500 prize, and publication of their work on the Primary Healthcare Specialist Group's \(PHCSG\) website.

The award is intended for those with an established career in primary care computing or informatics. Successful entries will demonstrate a significant impact on primary care, whether through thought leadership, research, or the development of tools and approaches that improve efficiency, access, or patient outcomes.

Applications close on 11th September 2026. To apply, please complete this application form.

In keeping with the BCS vision of using technology for the benefit of society, we encourage you to submit your work or nominate a colleague whose contributions deserve recognition.

For further information, or to discuss whether your work may be suitable, please contact chair@phcsg.org or richard.williams@phcsg.org.

The winner will be announced at the PHCSG Conference Dinner on 12th November 2026 at the voco Oxford Spires Hotel, Oxford. The winner will also be invited to present their work at the conference on 13th November 2026.

Even if you are not applying this year, we encourage you to attend the conference or the free Education Day on 12th November 2026 to meet fellow practitioners, explore new ideas, and learn from previous prize winners.
